Jeff Wall

18 June 2019 – 30 December 2020

Curated by Philipp Kaiser

The George Economou Collection is pleased to announce Jeff Wall's first solo exhibition in Greece. Over the course of a nearly fifty-year career, the Canadian artist Jeff Wall has transformed our understanding of photography and pushed the medium into the center of fine art practice. Since first presenting a photograph as a transparency in a lightbox in 1978, Wall has composed images that reflect and actualize social and historical narratives through a critical synthesis of artistic strategies from popular culture, cinema, literature, and painting.

The exhibition Jeff Wall offers an intimate encounter with this paradigm-shifting oeuvre. It is a focused survey of the artist's photographs and transparencies and includes some of his best-known tableaux. Works from the late 1980s to the 2010s are arranged in three groupings, reflecting Wall's involvement with different historical genres, installed in a dramaturgical unfolding over the three floors of galleries.

A verdant street view that captures Wall's native Vancouver opens the exhibition, exemplifying the artist's reimagining of the beauty and sublime of the natural landscape by paying equally close attention to signifiers of modern life—roads, ports, prisons, and tract houses. In the same gallery is the key piece An Eviction (1988/2004), which depicts a charged scene of human conflict against a sprawling vista of Vancouver's suburbia. This work, which is in the George Economou Collection, marks the first time Wall used digital tools to re-edit a large-scale photographic image—Eviction Struggle (1988)—adding figures and elements from other photographs taken during the shoot, but not used.

On the second floor, an ensemble of photographic prints surveys the work Wall has been making since suspending his production of transparencies in 2007. Three of the works, including the portrayals of two Vancouver costume historians and collectors, thematize clothing and its history. By contrast, Summer Afternoons (2013) is one of the artist's few treatments of the nude figure.

The exhibition concludes with a group of lightbox tableaux from the late 1990s and early 2000s. Works such as Insomnia (1994) and After "Invisible Man" by Ralph Ellison, the Prologue (1999–2000) are some of Wall's most iconic images and take their inspiration from a broad range of narrative sources. Several showcase the archaeological mode of image-making rendered explicit in Fieldwork... (2003), whose depiction of archaeologists excavating cultural remains can be seen as a metaphor for Wall's own excavation of representational traditions and possibilities.

Jeff Wall is curated by art historian and curator Philipp Kaiser with Skarlet Smatana, Director of the George Economou Collection, in close collaboration with the artist. A publication with contributions by Philipp Kaiser, Jane Weinstock, and James Welling will accompany the exhibition.

The exhibition will be on view from 18 June 2019 until 30 December 2020 at the George Economou Collection, 80 Kifissias Ave, 15125 Marousi, Athens, Greece. Our opening hours are Monday to Friday from 10 am- 6 pm. For further information or images, please contact Caroline May at +30 210 8090566 or caroline@artesia.gr
